Webmasters Tips - Three Crucial Steps To Remember

Designing a website does not have to be a difficult process. But if you are new on this, it's quite understandable if you are having a hard time coming up with a design that is neat and organized. Now to help you on this process, webmasters tips are provided to you.

Webmasters tips can help anyone who owns a website to have a fair concept on how to make their website load quickly, user-friendly, and easy to navigate. And to help you get started, here are the 3 common mistakes to avoid when designing a website.

1. Never use a splash page. This will get your site visitors more confused. It's a great way to "brand" your website, there's no doubt about that. But then again, most site visitors do not like the idea that they have to click on the logo of the splash page first before they can actually read on the site's content. So, instead of using this method, better think of another way to "brand" your website.

2. Do choose a header that is not too big. It will keep visitors away from your site because instead of seeing title and few sentences the moment they land on the page, what they see is a giant header graphic only. So make sure to use not too large headers on your webpage.

3. Make sure not to include too many widgets and features. This will not only cause your webpage to load too slowly but also make your page look so cluttered. So put only important widgets and features to avoid losing web visitors.

Designing a website does not really have to be a mind-boggling task if you just keep these dos and don'ts in mind. To find more webmasters tips, feel free to browse www.lazyjon.com.
