

Published based on The Benefits Resellers Get By Moving to Windows

The Benefits Resellers Get By Moving to Windows

Many resellers could find advantages of moving to a service that sells reseller windows server hosting over Linux. While Linux is a very popular hosting option, Windows provides multiple advantages that would benefit a number of people. Because of this, it could be an excellent product for sellers to resell.

For example, With reseller windows hosting companies like AllReseller.com the Windows hosting is really an all in one solution to hosting. You don't need to hold multiple accounts so that they can maintain all the clients which you might have, those that are usually spread out over the various control panels that you have in Linux. This might create keeping track of clients so much easier and help you save time and effort. You can still host applications written in the languages out there. This means you are able to run a PHP and MySQL based site right close to your ASP.Net SQL site also. It is all on the same server and in the same control panel so you don't need to keep switching back and forth.

You can also use ASP.Net and ASP, a more powerful tool within the developing applications for the web. That is certainly not the case when you use UNIX. While using Windows hosting platform that enables you to use ASP.Net and ASP, you can utilize those popular content management systems and they will run well. The ASP scripting works a lot better using a Windows hosting platform.

Usually when you use reseller windows hosting, you'll have always the modern technology available that you could add to your portfolio of services. You will be able to offer Exchange 2007, and there is also Windows Mobile and the ActiveSync that goes with that. There is also the Push Technology and the SharePoint that is also available. Many of these additional services you can offer with your hosting platform and it makes for additional income and a more powerful way to market your professional services.

The SQL Server provided by Microsoft is a data management and analysis software that has worked so well and have been rather reliable for loads of complex business applications. It is one of the fastest growing database solutions that is being used, and it can give a competitive advantage when you offer this with your Windows hosting as a reseller.

When compared to UNIX control panel, the control panel of a Windows based hosting program has a clustered solution that makes use of the Active Directory technology also provided by Microsoft. This means it already has Enterprise level solutions right from the start. You show that you can meet growing demands, as you need them right away.

With all of these reasons to utilize the Windows hosting platform, it gives solutions to what you can offer to customers whenever you sell them this solution to their hosting needs. Whenever you partner up with a reseller that offers this platform, you're offering many possibilities to grow and help your clients to grow their needs and utilize the latest technology. After you try this reselling program, you'll find a greater quality of customer and be able to offer long term, lasting professional hosting services.

If you want to enter into an online business as one of the best reseller hosting company then you need an established hosting company which offers reseller windows hosting, for which I recommend AllReseller.com

You can also find this article published on The Benefits Resellers Get By Moving to Windows, and on the tag pages hosting, reseller hosting, Web Hosting, windows, windows hosting.