Tissa Godavitarne and Acme people search

Despite the economic downturn and a general reluctance to invest or spend money during this period, Tissa Godavitarne's Acme people search Engine Affiliate Program seems to grow ever bigger. What's the secret of this success? Well, they would tell you it's good old fashioned generosity and attention to detail that are behind it as well as a well run forum.

This seems to be more than hyperbole on closer inspection. Experienced members called "Super Sponsors" are paid by Acme to respond to new affiliate's questions who in turn can also become paid Super sponsors if they contribute to the forum.

What is Acme anyway? Well Acme can be divided into two businesses, the first a people search engine, which they give you for free and you have to promote and can gain from up to 5 income streams. The second is an affiliate program with seven income streams. The search engine performs well, although it is only able to find someone in the USA. This begs the question, what does Acme people search get out of it? They are an affiliate marketing program after all. Well clearly Acme hope that once you've received your search engine and have started to make money you'll pay the $29,95 to gain access 6 more income streams which can lead to bigger payouts.

A way to find a good affiliate program is by checking the leader boards of all the big affiliate marketing companies such as GVO and GDI . Each leader board has a lot of Tissa Godavitarne's Acme people search members, so they must be doing something right. On balance this looks better than a lot of other affiliate programs, simply due to the amount of income streams. The affiliate program also provides free training, which clearly is useful.

So to Sum up, Tissa Godavitarne's Acme people search comes across as a legitimate program, with ample proof of payment to its affiliates. A note of caution is required though. It's clear this is a multi layered program and therefore it's clear a minimum investment of money will be required to subscribe to those companies.
