Stopping Those Churches Unknowingly Supporting Hosting Companies That Host Immoral Content

When a church makes a new website, the first thing that they consider is not the hosting. They are concerned about the website design, the look and getting the message on the pages. Sure, they may realize that they are paying a little bit for a domain name and hosting company, but they may not truly grasp what that means. More and more, it happens that churches unknowingly supporting hosting companies that host immoral content.

The consequences of this mistake are grave. As a church gives money and business to a web hosting service, the service takes that money and in turn provides hosting for immoral websites and content. Most of these sites are the things that churches try so hard to fight against. They are accidentally allowing their spread!

The websites can be anything from gambling to pornography. Give a dollar to the hosting site and give a dollar to these industries. For those who are conscious of this, there is no way you can continue in this business practice.

What should they do instead? If they will do their research, they will quickly see that there are many Christian hosting companies. These places often charge the same and will give great service. They only host other Christian websites, so a church can feel secure in where their money is going.

These are actually very good hosting companies. Their prices are very similar to the secular ones, and sometimes the hosting quality is superior. These are less places hosted, so your site gets more attention. Many of these companies also offer free advice and guides to create a church website.

Whatever you do, do not be one of those churches unknowingly supporting hosting companies that host immoral content. Be smart, do your research, and sign your church website up for a Christian hosting company.
