

Published based on Is She Really Into You?

Is She Really Into You?

It's difficult to tell if a woman really likes you, or she's just leading you on. This is especially true if you are pretty dense when it comes to women's body language. There are a lot of signs that can immediately tell if a woman really likes you.

Knowing about body language is important to understanding what your date is really saying. If a woman leans closer to you when you speak, or touches your arm or hand casually, this is a sign of interest. It's a much better way to judge her feelings than listening to what she says.

Why does she keep calling?

It is not unusual for a woman who is interested in a man to contact him on the phone. If you aren't interested in her, let her know right away. Don't be unkind, but be clear. Of course, if you are interested, it is an excellent time to set up a meeting or date.

Women who continue to call after you have rejected them may have serious psychological issues. Avoid answering their calls and do not return their messages. If they keep calling try changing your number. In rare cases, women who exhibit this behavior may be dangerous.

If she shows up at your home or place of work, it is best to contact law enforcement authorities to let her know you will not relent.

Everything's Going Too Well

In the early stages of a relationship, it is not uncommon for women and men to put aside other interests for a time. However, if a woman expects you to spend every available moment with her and if she has no outside friends or interests, she may be too dependent on you. Unless you are willing to give up everything for her, you may want to reconsider your relationship.

In normal, healthy relationships, the partners have outside friends and interests which they pursue without their significant other. If either party is entirely dependent on the other for their happiness, the relationship cannot succeed.

When Her Focus Is On You

There can be a lot of meanings to this, so you better be careful in judging a woman's attention. When a woman seems to make every way possible for you to notice her, this can be a clear sign that she's very much interested in you. You just have to make sure that you do not immediately jump into conclusions.

Women who behave outrageously to get the attention of a man may have issues with self esteem. Winning the man's interest is an ego boost. This is never about real interest in you as a person, but rather a self serving attempt by the woman to feel better about herself. Watch out for these women, they will reject you as soon as they are sure of you.

Get free dating tips and learn more on getting women or make money with the best dating affiliate program.

You can also find this article published on Is She Really Into You?, and on the tag pages affiliate, Affiliate Programs, attraction, culture, dating, girls, men, news, personals, relationship, seduction, singles, society, teens, women.