Forget about the hand-made dresses created by some style master, or a custom made tuxedo from a tailor. The best way to save money in this group is by wearing a hand-me-down gown coming from your own mother or grandmother. In case that's not an alternative, think of heading towards a department store and buying a pretty white cocktail dress that is about a hundred dollars or less. Another choice is making a fun motif for the wedding party. If the couple loves the outside, why not hold a laid-back wedding ceremony in a mountain spot in which the husband and wife don't have to put on expensive clothing.
