The Mug And The Pen In The Wedding Goodie Bag

When working on a wedding, one of the more thrilling undertakings is determining what to put in the goodie bags. The challenge, after all, is to come up with present themes that will make the invitees think of the honeymooners everlastingly and ever. A mug and a pen are two hot corporate giveaways that are worthy of being included in a nuptials goodie bag.

Romance may not be the initial watchword that comes in to mind when thinking of a mug or a pen. But then once again, there is no need for a nuptials goodie bag to be romantic. A nuptials goodie bag could be either funny, hot, tender or realistic. A mug and a pen are really practicable.

Perpetually, a pen is either in a purse, notebook or folder. There is a pen in the office, the house, the automobile, even within the pocket. Even with computing devices, people nevertheless retain a pen accessible. The beginning of the written word is, after all, the pen. Before typing in the computing machine, numerous individuals scribble their notes in a notebook or notepad first. In all probability, the pen will never go out of style.

Now, the mug is getting more commonplace, as well. With eco-friendly living on the rise, straightaway turning a staple in the purse, the automobile and the business office table is the mug. It is now more and more practical and cost-effective to retain a mug reachable at all times, as well, as numerous coffee stores offer up deductions when bringing a vessel for the coffee or tea.

The mug and the pen might not be the familiar tandem, but nevertheless, presenting them as nuptials keepsakes makes absolute sense. In the mornings, a mug with a couple's marriage photograph would evoke affectionate feelings to set the feel of the day. And all throughout the day, penning remarks with the pen that bears a loving citation from the pair should induce a love-filled mode.
