

Published based on What Is The Six Figure Program?

What Is The Six Figure Program?

What do stay at home moms, college students and professionals looking to make more money all have in common? They are modern day entrepreneurs and have discovered creators Ben Moskel and Dave Clabeaux of "The Six Figure Program" fame. There is a mentoring service and website of the same name.

Ben learned about Affiliate Marketing from a colleague in 2005. A newly emerging market at the time, he learned that Fortune 500 companies were paying affiliate marketers a percentage of a sale if a consumer clicked on their website which linked them to the company. Every click meant more money.

There are many success stories of people who have discovered "The Six Figure Program" seminar. One of these is Mary Hayes, who now works from the comfort of her own home and brings home more than the professionals she used to work with. She is making $5,500 a month just from linking her website to brand name companies like Target and Gucci. Every time someone clicks, she gets paid.

She is not the exception the norm, Mary IS the norm. Looking for a way to earn money quickly after being unexpectedly laid off from her job, she dealt with several online programs that were basically gimmicks and scams. She was just about ready to give up when she heard of Ben and Dave and "The Six Figure Program."

She was so relieved to discover "two regular guys" who had proven they could be successful - and wanted to teach people their method. She investigated them both, and saw they had legitimately earned $1.2 million dollars from websites.

Mary was able to learn the process step-by-step, since they had installed special cameras on their computer to allow Mary to copy exactly what they did. She knew they were honest and legitimate after that.

After reading a story in Entrepreneur Magazine, Mary found she trusted them even more. She liked their down to earth approach and felt comfortable with their teaching methods. They are sincere in their desire to share their success with others and even though Mary doesn't earn a million dollars a year like them, she has more than enough to sustain her family and be home with her children.

There are many scams and gimmicks on the Internet that will promise to make you millions of dollars overnight. For those odds, you should play the lottery. There are plenty of false claims about potential income and fake picture of checks plastered everywhere.

You can use The Six Figure Program successfully and all you need is a computer, Internet access and a desire to succeed.

Are Ben Moskel and Dave Clabeaux a Scam? Four-thousand new Affiliate Marketers don't think so. Discover the real truth of how Ben Moskel and Dave Clabeaux, two average guys, make over 1.2 Million dollars per year from simple websites.

You can also find this article published on What Is The Six Figure Program?, and on the tag pages Affiliate Programs, entrepreneurs, The Six Figure Program, work from home.