

Published based on Why Do More Business Directory Submission?

Why Do More Business Directory Submission?

If you have a new website that offers products or services, then it is perfect time to submit it to popular business directories online. Even if your website is months or years already in operational age, it is still a great idea to submit it now. Why? The best reason is for exposure to your target market. Besides looking from classified ads, search engines search results, 'come-across' ads, and others, people also often look at business information at business directory websites. While browsing Internet or doing the submission, you may find that it takes too much time submitting websites to directories. It should be done one by one, and then you are there with numerous other sites. Should we keep doing it? Yes, because of some hint answers below:

1. Good source of effective traffic. This means people who are led to your website could have higher possibility of buying, whether it is now or in the future time. When they do not, you still get visitors who realize the presence of your site. But it is certain that we rarely visit directory sites for other reason than looking for specific products or services.

2. Good for branding. As websites are well organized and categorized at business directories, visitors may associate between the specific industry, brand name, and website easier. This will have good effect in long term as people tend to return to sites they remember.

3. More natural backlinks to your site. Maybe not all website owners are familiar with the term 'backlinks', but building these links is vital for long term online presence. While you submit to business directories, the links pointing back to your site helps top search engines such as Google, Yahoo, Bing, MSN, and so on associate your company name and/or keywords with the domain name. When accumulated well, your site can appear on strategic position on search engine search result page and bring you more visitors.

The three are all good reasons to submit your site to business directories. If you believe to takes too much of your precious time, there are many directory submission services you can find online. The price for such services is usually quite affordable for any site owner as they are specialized in that kind of work. Just make sure you find a reliable company that guarantees good work result.

Alex Wu operates a business directory website that lets people advertise, build groups, and connect. He hopes to create an active environment for businesses to place their employment opportunities.

You can also find this article published on Why Do More Business Directory Submission?, and on the tag pages Advertising, business directory, Free Ads, Free Advertising, Free Classified Ads, Free Classifieds, free internet advertising, home based business, internet marketing, marketing, place free ads, post free ads, small business, work at home.