The Concept Of Hosting Reseller And Domain Reseller

The advent of the Internet has made the world a global village. Any person residing on the face of this earth is connected through the World Wide Web with the whole world. And with it the numbers of blogs, websites, networking sites, etc are also on the rise. Which has resulted in an increasing demand for many hosting reseller and domain reseller. It also means that hosting reseller and domain reseller is turning out to be one of the most lucrative jobs in today's internet age. But before you set out sail for it you need to know what exactly do the two terms stand for.

Let us first clearly understand what Hosting Reseller is or the basics of it. The internet is some what like the real estate industry. Websites are like houses. If you want your website to be accessed live on the internet, it requires a host, a dedicated cyber location where your website files, database and important components are stored. Just like a house. Web hosting companies sell these "lots" or spaces to website builders. There is an enormous demand for web space which the web hosting company cannot handle single handedly. Herein comes the role of a Hosting Reseller. They are like the "real estate brokers" who sell and handle accounts of clients on behalf of the hosting company. They perform the typical function of a middleman or an agent.

Hosting reseller can decide the kind of services they are going to sell. It can be a dedicated or merchant hosting, co-location hosting or shared hosting and so on. The first and foremost thing that you have to do is find out a reliable web hosting company that offers a reseller program. It is not possible for the individuals to start their own web hosting company as the cost of maintenance and investment is huge. One must also have a good technical team to support things. A hosting reseller is always a nice idea to break in to the internet business and it proves to be a good source of income.

Domain reseller on the other hand are individuals or companies who act as agents for ICANN accredited registrars. They buy domains at the wholesale price and sell them on to their customers. The best approach to go about becoming a domain reseller is to approach an ICANN accredited registrar which offers a reseller program. ICANN is the international body that regulates the domain industry. Domain companies need to become an ICANN accredited registrar before they can sell their domains to resellers. Once you have found a domain company which is ICANN registered you will need to have a reseller hosting account with a hosting company. You can then host all of your domains on that account as well as sell domains to other people.

Hosting reseller and domain reseller are great ways to make money. It needs a very low start up cost, and not much technical skill is required. If you can sell domains and hosting plans, you can earn a lot of money through it. It is the easiest means to generate income and wealth.
