

Published based on Corporate Strategies: Chaos With An Agenda And Eco-Quantum Mechanics

Corporate Strategies: Chaos With An Agenda And Eco-Quantum Mechanics

There is a world that exists within our world; a place where chaos is king and puppet masters reign supreme and misdirected remaining populace just beg to be controlled. This flipside to common conscious reality is the corporate and political strategy of 'chaos'. What? That's it you say? You may not appreciate the power of comprehending this alter existence so let me explain.

Within the confines of chaos lies the origin of man's nature where the concept of leadership and subservient coexist in harmony because there is order within clearly defined positions. The principal is typically invisible and the acquiescent are voluntarily exposed to satisfy the subconscious need to appear to his colleagues as the organizational power head. It is the artificial fulfillment of this need that perpetuates the process.

A commonplace application of this perception is with a manager in a corporation. Within the minute immediate access to those below the manager, he is the zenith of this structure but the reality is he is subservient to the VPs who are under the thumb of the C level executives who are hand puppets to the board of directors who are held liable to share holders and the stratagem of order in chaos is just getting started.

The group with the loudest voice in a corporate structure are the shareholders who in turn are typically the meek mild ocean of marionettes and the circular mind bend continues. The interdependency of this wheel now becomes obvious and the third source of influence to this model is introduced.

This wheel has an outside source of influence that is more powerful than the elements within the wheel as it is the 'agenda' of those who capitalize off of the perpetuation of the disarray that keeps those confined to the circle with foreheads to the grind stone unaware that they have the ability to look up and be liberated. The 'agenda' influence injects the ideas and concepts that enable this environment to exist and without it there would be now stimulant to pressure intellectual, scholastic or professional development.

The actual masters of the structure are an ever-revolving collection of global alliances possessing diversified interests that are interdependent and continue the perpetuation of this universe such as political leaders with the need to create jobs within a region, a consolidating organization aiming to capture a controlling majority of an industry etc. and just as you guessed, each of these leaders are accountable to another structure and so the quantum mechanic, socio-economic hierarchy is the stimulant that perpetuates our inter-reliant existence.

Want to find out more about Political and Economic Strategies ?, then visit Princeton Corporate Solutions' blog Economic Globalization Strategies and facilitation that can transform the direction of your company, career or campaign.

You can also find this article published on Corporate Strategies: Chaos With An Agenda And Eco-Quantum Mechanics, and on the tag pages Advertising, corporate strategist, democratic strategies, democratic strategists, expansion strategist, machiavelli, machiavellian, political analyst, political analysts, political strategies, political strategist, political strategists, republican strategist.