These days you can market to the world and without having to leave your home. Once you start to narrow down the many sites you have been on you can put together a very comprehensive book, training guide for your own use or to teach others what you have learned.

You can advertise by word of mouth, still really great. This is a free way to get the word out. Also is very easy to do and still one of the best.

And with all the social media networking sites for people young and old, to being able to find just about any kind of information through all the major search engines such as Google, yahoo, MSN etc.. With the right resources and tools you could gather enough information to learn how to cook, play guitar, and write a book.

Which stopped a lot of successful internet business's dead in their tracks-Guru's included. So that just meant that you have to step it up and find other ways to get results.

Ok! Not everyone is as successful with all of this as others. Why is this? What are you doing wrong, while others are getting it right? For one if you are doing all these things, then why are you not getting results?

Another popular way is promoting affiliate products or even creating your own software or other products to promote. For you to really profit you need landing pages or video squeeze page templates, so that just meant that you have to step it up and find other ways to get results.
