iPad Case Puts Your iPad in a Ziploc Bag

Did you preorder the iPad? Do you hate water? If so, there's great news ahead. TrendyDigital's WaterGuard waterproof iPad case accessory will protect your iPad from water, dust, sand, and dirt - but this waterproof case looks like an advanced Ziploc bag.

Although, the TrendyDigital WaterGuard iPad protective waterproof case accessory looks like an oversized sandwich bag that fits around your Apple iPad, it actually has some pretty practical applications. If you work around large bodies of water, are visiting the beach, want to keep your iPad secure during the rain, or if you're facing one of the many circumstances on the endless list of uses for iPad owners that are extremely paranoid of water, the TrendyDigital WaterGuard iPad accessory will keep your iPad free of any water damage while allowing you to operate your iPad.

This transparent waterproof iPad accessory sits your iPad neatly inside and allows for full operation of your Apple iPad. The TrendyDigital WaterGuard accessory comes with a neck and or shoulder strap that'll allow you to have both hands free to fight off vicious water attacks while your iPad goes unscathed.

The perfect gift for Aqua Man or anyone that visits the beach, pool, or bath tub (hopefully) often and can't keep their eyes and grubby hands off the iPad for as long as two seconds, the waterproof TrendyDigital WaterGuard iPad accessory will keep your iPad safe from all the evil water in the world that is waiting for the perfect opportunity to ruin that expensive oversized iPod Touch of yours.

Without having an actual iPad to test this device on at the moment, it's hard to tell how waterproof the TrendyDigital WaterGuard iPad accessory actually is and whether or not this accessory will ruin your iPad during a test run, but as of now, the TrendyDigital WaterGuard is the only option for the Wicked Witch of the West, Dirty Dee (from Pootie Tang) and others that have to stay absolutely safe from water, but love having their iPad around.
