With more and more costs involved in getting a web presence started, and those costs rising rapidly, clients are looking to saving money in more ways than ever before. There are many types of fees involved in creating a website. With web hosting space, software to create the sites, email costs, and other recurring monthly and annual costs more companies now look for ways to save money on domain names and registration services. This is a small yearly fee but it adds up when considering the other costs involved even for a small company. Large companies are often faced with the need for multiple domain names and that only serves to compound the yearly cost of operating their online site. Free domain names can be found, but it is wise to study the pros and cons of these services and what they imply.

There are a few methods of obtaining a free domain name registration. Finding out what they are is not difficult. With the use of a few strategies a business or organization can by-pass the difficulties and extra fees charged for registering a domain name. There are many online and also local companies that offer domain name registration along with a hosting service for a website. The features of both are very similar.

Here are few useful tips to get a free domain name:

- * Always do plenty of research when looking into companies that offer free domain name registration. You will get the best deal for your company if you chose a web host with the provisions you require that offer free domain name registration. Large companies often get this given to them even with large hosting companies for the volume of business.

- * The easiest way of obtaining a domain name is to use the web host's services for hosting your website. Many web hosts offer free domain name registration if you sign up for one of their packages, and also include email and web design as well.

- * Don't neglect looking to your local area for web hosting companies. There are many advantages to using a local company. The ability to communicate issues and concerns face-to-face, or deal with problems in person is just some of those advantages. Many small local companies also offer free domain name registration.

- * Check if the web hosting company provides free domain name registration with a private plan. This feature helps to protect the important personal information of the business organization from the inquiry of the general public. In fact, there are a number of people who try to abuse the privilege provided by a website. In such a case the web hosting company alerts the website owner and thus helps to protect the online business.

- * There are some free TLD domains which you can obtain for viewing a provider's offers and signing up for what you can use thereby gaining points. The more points you earn the more likely you are of obtaining more free TLD domains.

There are many online domain name providers where you can find free domain names. These types of services offer sub domain names for free when you use their sites to build your website. There are some disadvantages to these programs and they are not top-level domain names. They include:

Freedomain.co.nr

This domain name provider has a lot of great features for the website owner. They offer no-cost redirection that are more commonly known as Domain Forwarding services. They also provide URL masking, URL cloaking, and the ability to use Path Forwarding and some other services. One of the many other cool features of this host is their offer help with Meta Tags, and Favicon. The only requirement for the free services is a link back directed at their main site. That is a small price to pay for all of the free options.

Dot.tk:

Dot.tk is a commonly used domain name service. It is one of the better free sub domain name providers and gives its clients .tk domains. The drawback to this company is the free service expires if certain conditions are not met by the user. If you obtain one of these names your site must receive at least 25 visitors inside of a 90 day period.

It is your responsibility to keep up the traffic to your site or you will lose the use of it.

Uni.cc

This company provides terrific tools for site building and TLD domains as well as their free domain names. They also offer redirection and other options. The only drawback to Uni.cc is that they do not provide hosting, ftp, or email hosting at this time. They are a great source of domain names and redirection for free if you already have website space.

GeoCities

It is one of the most popular free domain name provider sites. The for-fee premium web hosting service is introduced by Yahoo! and it provides 3 GB monthly bandwidth limit. However, there are banner or popup advertisements on every page. The services provided by this site include manual for creating a web page, PageBuilder, design tools, PageWizards, File Manager and several other great add-on options.

Google Page Creator

Google's page creator is a wonderful new availability for a fast, free website. It is still in development but offers a great many tools for site creation and is very easy to use. There are some severe limitations to the free service and still some kinks to work out but it is effective. Remember that services like this and Yahoo's above free sites do not give unique domain names for free, but sub-domain names. This is less impressive for business and commercial sites.

Fadlan.com

This domain name provider offers .fadlan.com domains. They give clients free URL redirection and domain forwarding as well. They have other great features such as DNS that allows a site owner to put their own web server on a sub domain if they have a static IP address. There are a few drawbacks to this service but it is reliable.

Afraid.org

Afraid.org offers the options of several domain names available to choose a suitable sub domain. After signing up at Afraid.org, they provide ample services including a tool to update the IP redirection. The limitation is 50 sub domains for a single user account. This free domain name service can be used for Domain Hosting, free DNS Hosting, Dynamic/ Static DNS Hosting etc.

C-o.in

This is another cost free as well as very effective online free domain name service provider. Their services include free URL Redirection service and free sub domain forwarding services, which is available in four different formats.
